

Portrait of Augustine Faculty

Augustine faculty demonstrate a passion for discipling students to faith in Christ rooted in knowledge, understanding, and wisdom.

This passion will be evident in the following:

- Expertise in area of instruction (advanced degrees, experience, references)
- Skill in classical teaching methodology
- Lifelong love and joy in learning
- Appreciation for all that is good, true, and beautiful
- Commitment to shepherd the hearts of students through academic content and learning experiences
- Ability to artfully engage students in their learning
- Demonstration of Christian virtues

EXPANDED Portrait of Augustine Faculty

An Augustine faculty member demonstrates a passion for discipling students to faith in Christ rooted in knowledge, understanding, and wisdom.

This passion will be evident in

- Expertise in area of instruction (advanced degrees, experience, references)
- Skill in classical teaching methodology
- Lifelong love and joy in learning
- Appreciation for all that is good, true, and beautiful
- Commitment to shepherd the hearts of students through academic content and learning experiences
- Ability to artfully engage students in their learning
- Demonstration of Christian virtues

In addition, a Grammar School teacher will...

- Create a classroom environment that promotes order, learning, and beauty
- Be attentive to the individual needs of students in the class and recommend students who need additional support or challenges
- Assess in a manner consistent with objectives
- Implement varied instructional strategies to meet student needs
- Partner with parents in timely, effective communication
- Work collaboratively with fellow teachers
- Seek professional development

In addition, an Upper School teacher will...

- Create a classroom environment that promotes order, learning, and beauty
- Provide opportunities for students of differing abilities to be appropriately challenged in class
- Assess in a manner consistent with objectives
- Engage students through Socratic discussions
- Respect students as young adults and budding scholars and teach in a manner consistent
- Partner with parents in timely, effective communication
- Work collaboratively with fellow teachers
- Seek professional development
- Require mastery* in areas of reading, writing, mathematic computation

*With an awareness of some unique needs among our students